CSG Selected to Deliver Global ERP for Ausenco

Australian owned ICT company CSG (ASX:CSV) has signed a contract with Ausenco to implement an Oracle ERP platform to underpin the company's global expansion.

CSG will work collaboratively with the global engineering and project management company on the implementation, which commenced on Monday 3 October 2011.

The project is scheduled for completion in 2013 and will enable Ausenco to integrate all aspects of the company's business including financials, project management, asset management, maintenance, procurement, HR, payroll, reporting and analysis. The ERP will be rolled out initially within Australia and then to Ausenco's operations in North and South America.

CSG Group General Manager Julie-Ann Kerin said CSG was delighted to have been selected as the implementation partner for this project which is set to transform the company's processes and support them in their global expansion.

"Partnering with our customers to enable business transformation through technology is CSG's core business. We deliver industry based solutions and our IP around Oracle ERP implementations for the Engineering & Construction industry is among the best in the country" Ms Kerin said.

Ausenco CIO Paul Young said the organisation required a platform that would provide a solid foundation for global expansion and manage multiple legislative, corporate and compliance requirements.

"In addition to supporting Ausenco's global expansion and integration of complex operations, the solution will improve efficiency and consistency in decision making for the company," Mr Young said.

"Critical business Information will be available to managers across the business lines with multiple entries of data to be replaced by a single streamlined source of information."
